

ABSTRACT

Virtual purchase information, which does not include any identifier of a real financial account, is provided, in an on-line connection to a merchant, to pay for an item. The merchant provides the item and the virtual purchase information to a delivery service. At the delivery service, the virtual purchase information is converted to a real delivery address, and the item is delivered to the delivery address.

20193299